AIRCRAFT CARRIER "COURAGEOUS" IS FIRST MAJOR NAVAL VICTIM OF THE NAZI'S RELENTLESS NEW CAMPAIGN

Submarine is Set Upon by British Destroyers, and Is Believed To Have Been Sunk—Casualties Unknown—
Scene of Sinking Not Divulged

(By Charles A. Smith, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Nazi Germany's relentless new campaign netted its first major naval victim today when the 26,500 ton British aircraft carrier "Courageous" was sent to the bottom.

The submarine which sent a torpedo through the warship's steel hull was immediately set upon by destroyers and was believed sunk.

Casualties aboard the Courageous were not known. A number of survivors were picked up but the total loss was not made known by the British Ministry of Information.

(Editor's note: A few hours before news of the Courageous sinking was announced, a semi-official German news agency in Berlin declared that since the opening of hostilities, 190,600 tons of British shipping had been sunk by U-boats.)

The Courageous, with her wartime complement of 1216, including the personnel of the Royal Air Force, had been operating with British reserve fleets since August. She had been in action, the Ministry of Information said, "with a reduced complement of aircraft."

Destroyers attached to the reserve fleet and merchantmen in the immediate vicinity rushed to the aid of the Courageous, after the torpedo struck, and after rescuing as many as possible, headed for port.

Whether the submarine was sent to the bottom immediately after sinking the Courageous or whether a pursuit and sea battle preceded its destruction was not known.

The toll of dead aboard the Courageous will not be known, it was said, until rescue vessels reach shore. The British authorities, in accordance with usual practice, refused to divulge the scene of the sinking. A reserve fleet, however, is believed to have been assigned to the Skagerrak and nearby waters of the North Sea.

Co-Workers of Roger Cullen Raze House Which Burned

BRIDGEWATER, Sept. 18.—Thirteen co-workers of Roger Cullen, whose home, the entire furnishings, the family automobile, and clothing for the eight members of the family were destroyed by fire early Thursday morning, came to his aid Saturday, and razed the ruins in order to make way for a new dwelling for the family.

Arriving at the site of the fire which had wrought such disaster, the men who with Mr. Cullen are employed by the National Haircloth Company, 1424 N. Howard street, Philadelphia, set about their task during the middle of the morning. By mid-afternoon the portion of the roof and the side walls which had been standing since the conflagration, were torn down, and the group then busied themselves with dragging the blackened timbers aside, in preparation for cutting such as could be used, into firewood.

"And if we can aid later we will come back on another day, and be of what assistance we can," said a spokesman for the group, Joseph Gallagher, shop chairman. Aiding him in the work on Saturday were the Messrs. Robert Hettick, Andrew Renie, Herbert Marsh, James Norton, John Horton, Walter Christie, Charles Jolly, Anthony Laganella, James Hughes,
Stephen Dean, Aloysius McCullough, Westley Dolchanczyk.

A collection was taken throughout the plant, and the firm also added to this donation, to aid the stricken family in its rehabilitation.

A committee of residents of this section had previously busied itself in enlisting aid for rehabilitation of Mr. and Mrs. Cullen and their six small children. The committee includes Englebert Smith, Howard Davis, Elmer Yorty, and William Lemon, Bridgewater. Volunteer mechanics are being sought to help. Friends have outlined a plan whereby the insurance money added to the worth of the building and loan association stock will pay off the first mortgage. The holder of the second mortgage plans to permit Mr. Cullen to use this money along with the $222.58 due him from the insurance and building and loan funds, thus $622.58 being available to purchase materials. Four building supply firms have agreed to sell and deliver supplies for the family's new home, at cost.

A five-room bungalow is planned, and it is expected that work will be rushed on it so that the family will be made comfortable before Winter.

Predicts Long War

London, Sept. 18.—The world can now look forward to a war probably lasting six years, as a result of the past week-end.

And in the opinion of professional observers, active entry of Soviet Russia into the war, plus the Russo-Japanese agreement, have added another two years to its likely duration.

This calculation is based upon the present belligerents alone, and does not take into consideration any kind of American participation.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

Raymond Steinhauer, aged 40, of 32 South Main street, Quakertown, who several weeks ago was placed under arrest on a morals charge, and who, after having been in the Bucks County Prison, was released under $1500 bail for a term of criminal court, it was learned by police, was found dead in a boarding house in Reading on Monday.

His body was found by Mary Olsor, who had charge of the boarding house at 324 North 10th street, Reading, after she smelled gas fumes making their way through the house. The door of his room was locked and all crevices were stuffed in order to prevent the fumes from escaping.

Steinhauer, who was implicated with several other men from the upper part of the county, all of whom pleaded guilty to the morals charge, was said to have rented the room five weeks ago, but did not occupy it all of the time. He, however, it was said, went to Reading Saturday night to pay the rent.

Steinhauer, who resided in Quaker-town since he was 12 years of age, was said to have made his home with an aunt there. It was said he had been unemployed for about eight years. A sister and his mother live in delphia, with 5579 patients, more than one-half of the accommodations at the Norristown State Hospital were occupied by Philadelphians on May 31, last, according to a census of State mental institution populations.

The survey completed by Secretary of Welfare E. Arthur Sweeney to determine the residence by counties of all patients, reveals that of the 4039 men and women under care and treatment, at Norristown, 2244 came from Philadelphia.

Sixteen other counties had patients in the institution as follows: Adams 1, Allegheny 3, Berks 2, Bucks 186, Chester 57, Dauphin 3, Delaware 673,

Percy Earl In Hospital With Fractured Skull

The condition of Percy Earl, 108 Filmore street, was reported "fair" at the Abington Hospital at about 10 o'clock this morning.

Earl, it was reported, fell from the truck of John H. Wichser and later was found with a fractured skull.

Mr. Wichser was driving the truck last evening, at about eight o'clock, and Earl was riding in the rear. Mr.
Wichser states that Earl was still in the truck as he left Booz's corner, but when Wichser stopped for the traffic light at Pond and Walnut streets, it was found that Earl was missing.

Mr. Wichser states that he immediately turned around and drove back over the route as far as Booz's corner and despite careful search Earl was not located.

In the meantime Earl was found in a dazed condition on the Beaver street hill and the police were called.
The police took Earl to the home of his mother, and when a physician was summoned it was found his skull was fractured.

The injured man was removed to the Abington Hospital in the ambulance of the Bucks County Rescue Squad, and blood transfusion given.

A Chance To Speak Out

Washington, Sept. 16

BEFORE the special session of Congress convenes it is interesting to note that the two most conspicuous Senatorial candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination have taken unequi-
vocal positions on the embargo issue.—Senator

Robert Taft, of Ohio, on one side and Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, on the other.

SENATOR BRIDGES, of New Hampshire, who, with an enthusiastic press agent and great energy, is running more actively than anyone in the field in either party, as yet has not definitely announceed his stand. But that is not a matter of vast importance, as Mr.

Bridges' candidacy has not reached a stage where, except by himself, it is taken seriously. The candidacies of the others have.
While Mr. Bridges has a vote in the Senate fully equal to that of either Mr. Taft or Mr. Vandenberg, what he says is not really as significant. It may not even be news.

BUT with the other two—Taft and Vandenberg—it is different. They, along with Mr. Dewey, of New York, are the outstanding aspirants for the Republican nomination. In all probability one of the three will be nominated nine months hence and he may be President in 1941. Hence, their views are important, first, because of their political prospects; second, because of the enormity of the problems, both foreign and domestic, which loom ahead; third,

BRISTOL TOWNSHIP SISTERS RESIDED IN COUNTY 70 YEARS

Miss Mary A. Scott, 88, and Mrs. E. E. Vansant, 86,
Lead Active Lives

REMEMBER CIVIL WAR

Older One Received Certificate For Picking Lint During War Days

Two sisters, members of a family which several generations ago settled in this county, and who themselves have made Bucks County their home for 70 years, are leading an active and interested life at their residence on Bath Road.

The two, who in their 89th and 87th years take keen interest in all activities about them, are Miss Mary A.
Scott, and Mrs. Ella E. Vansant. Miss Scott, the older of the two, can well recall the days she spent during the Civil War in picking lint to be used in dressing the wounds of the soldiers of the Northern army, and is proud of the fact that she received a certificate for her work during that holocaust, even though she was of tender years at the time.

The sisters were born in Philadelphia, coming to Bucks County in 1868 with their parents. For 54 years they made their home in Penna Manor, and for the past 16 years on Bath Road.
They are the survivors of a family of four children, two brothers being deceased. Miss Scott and Mrs. Vansant are daughters of the late Robert M. and Anna B. Scott, who years ago resided on what was known as the Turkey Hill Farm in Penna Manor. "My great uncle conducted the well-known Cross Keys Hotel, in Bristol for several years," volunteered Miss Scott, in reviewing the early history of her family. "My great grandfather, Robert Scott, was buried in St. James' Churchyard in 1823, and his wife, Mary Reynolds Scott, a native of New Jersey, who died in 1822, is also buried there.
In fact most of the family from the time of my great grandfather rest in St. James' burial ground."

It was an ancestor of the two, and a friend who were responsible for the establishment of the Tullytown Christian Church. Their grandmother Scott, when a girl, and a friend, Catherine Hellings Whitaker, received from the former's father a plot of ground for erection of a place of worship, and sufficient for cemetery plot; also a sum of money, states Mrs. Vansant.
The two, keenly interested in the enterprise, saw the church well launched.

While greatly interested in the present world affairs, Mrs. Vansant and Miss Scott nevertheless secure much pleasure in recounting activities of their forbears and of their own generation. Stories of the cutting of timber on the property of their great grandfather with the shipping of the lumber down the Delaware River years and years ago, have been handed down for generations. Many "old-timers" will recall hearing of Scott's Landing, a few miles above Bristol on the Delaware River.

The two can well recall incidents of the Civil War, and Miss Scott some time ago presented to the Robert W.
Bracken Post of the American Legion, the certificate she secured for picking lint. "We would pull the threads out of clean white linen cloth, so it might be used for dressings. The boys in the armies today think they have it hard, but if they had trials that the boys of 1861 had they would know something," she added.

Both of these residents of Bath Road have excellent eye-sight, and good hearing. They enjoy sewing, reading, and many radio programs. "If there is a good program on at midnight, we sometimes will get up to hear it," they commented. Visits to their neighbors are also enjoyed.

The two usually exercise the right of franchise, always making their way to the polls when possible.

Mrs. Vansant underwent a major operation when she was 72 years of age. She has one daughter, Mrs. Anna Auchenbach; three granddaughters, and a grandson.

DO WE REMEMBER 1919?

Above all things just now Americans need a good memory. It should help in making up our minds about getting into war. If we can't profit by what we learned 20 years ago we are not so bright as Americans are reputed to be.

Europeans always have accused us of being sentimental. We can't go to war, as Europe does, openly admitting it is to get power or control of the seas or to monopolize trade. We have to have some high and holy causes. We have to "save democracy" or "end all wars."

Our slogan makers are hard put to it just now.

We can't go over to "save democracy" for there is a shortage of democracy over there. Most of the nations have given up the shadow of liberty they once had and are taking orders from dictators.

Even those that call themselves democracies have, at least temporarily, put the screws on their democratic agencies. The principle of tyranny never loses while war is in progress. The prospect of our ending all war by getting into war isn't so bright as we once thought it.

But still there is the plea that we should help the side of a just cause.

That fine American sentiment was worked hard during the other war. Our people stunted themselves in the use of foods of which they had an abundance. They loaned huge sums of money. They sacrificed in many ways just for the sake of being right.

And when the war was over and we suggested that debt payments would be in order, the European jokesters thought up that funny one about "Uncle Shylock."

They made pictures of Uncle Sam that did not accentuate his benevolence or his good intentions or gratitude for his help. They just made a monkey of him.

Can we remember in 1939 the lesson we learned in 1919?

FROM ARMIES TO PINS

From a small town named Doorn, Holland, comes a report that the once "all-highest" of the German Reich has no comment to make about developments of the present war; but that does not mean he is indifferent. On the contrary, the former German Kaiser follows every movement of the armies in Poland and the western front by the movement of little colored pins on huge maps on the walls of his place of exile in Holland.

One may well imagine Wilhelm's intense interest in all that is going on in Europe. He has been through it, he has known the feeling of leadership of what appeared at the time to be an "invincible" army and of a cause certain of victory. He knows the taste of the bitterness of defeat; he wears the sackcloth and ashes of the leader who has failed.

Wilhelm, hunched before a radio, busy sticking little colored pins into a map, may well serve as a warning to his successors, the "all-highest" of our day. But the warning goes unheeded, for this seems to be a lesson which these "leaders" prefer to learn for themselves, however great and needless the cost in human lives.

In Louisiana an inflated patriot exhortates the Reds as "ferretes"—fishing in troubled waters. "Nothing like it has been seen since Senator Nye 'unhorsed the barnacles.'"

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Feb. 14, 1878. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The following items were culled from the Bucks County Gazette, issue of February 14, 1878:

The advocacy of the Gazette for the selection of a woman for school director has borne good results already, as is shown by the action of the Workmen and by the nomination on the Republican ticket of Ruth Anna Peirce.

If it had not been that the lower end of the town has not representation on the School Board, Mrs. Caroline S. Wood would also have likely been selected by the Republican convention as there was no opposition except for the reason stated.

Between 15 and 20 boxes of honey were taken from the yard of the Bristol Rowing Club's house, Radcliffe street, on Tuesday afternoon. The colored woman who has charge of the house, saw three men in the yard carrying something toward the river, and gave the alarm to Captain R. H. Morris, who was in the club house. He hurried down and was just in time to see the men in a boat rowing down the river. Dr. Baker was informed of the affair and immediately proceeded to the "Mouth of the Apron" where he saw the men, who stopped when he called to them, and in answer to his inquiry they said they were going to Beverly. As he could do nothing to stop them, they were allowed to proceed, but instead of going to Beverly were observed rowing toward "Bunker Hill," which they left however before they could be overhauled.

Mr. Daniel Muncey who has been for about nine years connected with the management of the Bristol Post Office has retired from that position. Mr. Muncey made a faithful officer, and it is with sincere regret that the Bristol public are compelled to part with him.

The executor of Dr. Elias Wildman, deceased, sold his real estate, in Fallington, on Tuesday, as follows: No. 1, the homestead, for $2200; No. 2, a tract of land of 14 acres and 58 perches, for $45 per acre. Edward Nicholson was the purchaser of both.

A petition was read at the Temperance Lyceum on Friday evening, which is to be circulated in our borough for signatures, asking the legislature to pass a law granting license to persons to sell liquor only by the consent of a majority of the people of the town.

Charlotte Wink, a middle-aged woman and a resident of this place, was run over by the cars and instantly killed at Schenck's station, last Sunday morning.

A donation to which all his friends are invited, will be given to Rev. J. S. Cook at the parsonage tomorrow evening.

NEWPORTVILLE — On Saturday evening next, there will be an entertainment held in Johnson's Hall, Hulmeville, for the purpose of securing a new library for the Neshauney M. E. Sunday School. The program is of an interesting character and contains the amusing comedietta, "A Happy Pair," the petite farce, "The Obstinate Family," and the laughable afterpiece, "Slasher and Crasher," together with some fine selections of music by Vandegrift's orchestra, striking and amusing tableaux.

The Republican township convention takes place at Enille on Saturday afternoon. The Democrats hold their meeting on Monday evening at the Newportville Hotel.

POINT PLEASANT — The ice off the Tobickon creek passed through this place last Sunday afternoon, but owing to the mild weather we have been having during the winter months, the run of ice was not very heavy.

The question, "Resolved, that Foreign Emigration should be Prohibited," will be discussed at the next meeting of the Literary Society.

NEW HOPE — The iron bridge in New Hope should receive immediate attention. The foot-path is full of holes.

The Almswell National Bank has removed from the corner of Coryell and Union streets, to the Masonic Hall on Bridge street.

On Saturday evening last, the Eagle Fire Company housed the Delaware No. 2. They were preceded by a band of martial music, and followed by the new company, to whom they acted as escort. After parading through the principal streets, they proceeded to the new engine house on Bridge street, where they housed the engine.

The Great Game of Politics

because they are men of character and capacity.

MR. TAFT HAS come out in favor of lifting the embargo, which, in the coming struggle, will put him on the President's side. As Mr. Taft has been a vigorous and emphatic opponent of practically every Roosevelt domestic policy, particularly of the spending program which is so overwhelming a part of the New Deal, his flat declaration, made some weeks ago, for the Roosevelt-Hull policy is an indication of the completeness with which this fight will cut across party lines. It is also an indication that Mr. Taft is a man of conviction, who abandoned partisanship on this issue before the war broke out or Mr. Roosevelt made his appeal.

HOWEVER, the fact that Senator Vandenberg's position is exactly the reverse and he will take a leading part in the fight to prevent the lifting of the embargo presents no justification for charging him with partisanship. On the contrary, the Michigan Senator's sincerity in this business is not questioned by anyone. He strongly believes that lifting the embargo is the end of American neutrality and a step toward entering the war. Believing this, he has not waited for the debate to develop nor for sentiment to force his hand. Instead, he has come out openly and squarely before the session begins. It requires more than a little political courage for Mr. Vandenberg to take the conspicuous part in this fight he evidently intends.

FOR one thing, sentiment in the press and among the people seems strongly in favor of the Roosevelt-Hull proposal. For another, many of the leading Republican businessmen of Mr. Vandenberg's own State, for business reasons, favor lifting the embargo. There, of course, is no way to forecast the political effect of his course upon either of these Presidential aspirants, but it does seem that the Vandenberg risk is somewhat greater than that of Mr. Taft, inasmuch as the isolationist group, to which the former is now attached, is extremely unlikely to prevail.

CONSIDERING the fact that various Republicans of prominence outside of Congress have felt called upon to express their views on this issue, there is considerable speculation here as to whether District Attorney Dewey will not follow suit. He is a recognized aspirant for the Presidency and leads in all the polls. It is true he is not a member of the Senate, where the question will come up for vote and, of course, it has not the remotest connection with the job he now holds. Nevertheless, it is a vital matter upon which both parties will divide and leading men in each hold strong convictions.

FROM time to time the point has been made against Mr. Dewey that no one knows his views on the really vital issues of the day, or even that he has any. It would not be surprising if in this neutrality fight he found some suitable opportunity to meet that complaint and make a statement. To do so may conflict with his policy of attending strictly to his own business and saying nothing that would indicate consciousness of his candidacy. On the other hand, to keep neutral while his two rivals have chosen sides on such a question may lend some color to the charge that he is trying to pussyfoot his way into the nomination and lacks convictions. Some of his friends are of the opinion that coyness about his candidacy has been carried far enough and that the time to speak is here. It is something for Mr. Dewey to think about.

various Sunday School classes. Their efficiency was quite marked. The menu consisted of trustworthy tomato juice, loyal soup, kind chicken croquets, helpful peas, courteous potatoes, friendly carrots, obedient salad, thrifty coffee, cheerful pie, brave rolls, clean dishes and reverent place. The descriptive adjectives for each item are the 12 scout laws.

The invocation was given by the Rev. W. W. Williams after which the toastmaster, D. G. Hopkins, was introduced to the guests by Commissioner H. E. Oliver. Mr. Hopkins welcomed all to the banquet. During the serving of the dinner all the guests joined in singing many of the old time favorites. This was enjoyed by all. Near the close of the dinner, a short but very interesting talk was given by County Scout Commissioner W. Burgess who stressed the importance of scouting and the great amount of good that is accomplished.

Five year awards were given to Louis Tomlinson, William Lange, William Ludasher, Jesse Windkos and Daniel G. Hopkins indicating five years of work in the Boy Scout Organization. Awards were also made to the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary whose loyalty and dependableness has never failed. Those who received gifts were Mrs. Lear, Mrs. H. E. Oliver, Mrs. George Bloch, Mrs. Harry Tomlinson, Mrs. Warren Pickersgill, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. William Lange.

A ten year award was made to Commissioner Harry B. Oliver. Before introducing members of the earlier organizations, Commissioner Harry E. Oliver read two letters from former members. One, from Bishop Creighton, expressed his regret in his inability of being at the celebration and recalled some of the happenings of the earlier scout groups. The second letter read was from Richard Wagner, Lancaster, who stressed the good in the many things that are taught in scouting and their application in every day life.

Each old scout was called upon to say a few words. There were many interesting and laughable events which were recalled from the days when they went camping. The keynotes of all these remarks narrowed down to the value of scouting, the amount of knowledge that was obtained and the fact that today scouting is conducted along so much better lines, in that, the boys of today are placed upon their own and by so doing are getting so much more out of scouting. Tribute was paid to Elwood Abbott, now deceased.

A very interesting account of the history of scouting in Andalusia was given by Jesse Windkos.

Entertainment was voluntarily contributed by Carmen Torretti in helping the committee in furnishing a pleasant evening.

Before introducing the speaker of the evening, Commissioner Oliver introduced Mrs. Alice Tomlinson, Council secretary.

Honorable Thomas B. Stockham, regional commodore, covering the states of Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia, and the District of Columbia, was the speaker of the evening. His speech was interesting and informative. His main plea, in this ever-changing world, was that of tolerance and understanding, and that the laws of scouting were very safe in following in order to secure a balance of fairness and understanding.

Following this a number of reels of moving pictures were shown, some depicting life at Buccoo, located on the Raritan River, six miles from Flemington, N. J. These were most interesting and the scenic effects and views most beautiful. Views were also shown of several of the Memorial Day parades here at home. These too held the interest of the guests.

The celebration was brought to a close by the pronouncing of the Scout Benediction by George Bloch, Scout master. Taps were sounded by Lester Engle, Star Scout.

Wedding of Edgely Miss Occurs in Bristol Church

At a wedding Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, in Bristol Methodist Church, Miss Ida Lillian Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilbert, Edgely, became the bride of Alvin Hartford Hammond, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hammond, Sr., Trenton, N. J. The Rev. J. Carpenter Zook, pastor of Bristol Methodist Church, and Rev. Francis Smith, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, Fallington, officiated. Miss Carolyn Betz, Edgely, played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bridal party entered the church, and Alvin Bellerjeau, Trenton, N. J., sang "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me." The church was decorated with palms and cut flowers.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Lillian Reynolds, Edgely, as maid of honor; and Mrs. Milton R. Hammond, sister-in-law, of Trenton, N. J., and cousin, Miss Doris Kerr, Edgely, as bridesmaids. Little Claire Culbertson, Edgely, was flower girl. Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Milton R. Hammond, Trenton, N. J.; and ushers were Charles E. Rittler, Edgely, uncle of the bride, and Willard E. Hammond, brother of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin and lace, fashioned on Princess lines, with a Queen Anne lace collar and sweetheart shape neckline trimmed with pearl clips. The full sleeves extended below the elbow with lace inserts at the shoulders, and were tight fitting to the wrist. The long skirt ended in a train, which also had lace inserts. She wore a veil of tulle edged with lace which fell from a headpiece of seed pearls, and carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses and baby breath.

The maid of honor was attractive in a coral taffeta gown, bustle effect, with short puffed sleeves and sweetheart neckline. The skirt was flared and ruffled. She wore satin sandals matching her gown; coral velvet tiara with a nose veil, and carried a Colonial bouquet of red roses and baby breath. The bridesmaids were gowned in salmon color and peacock blue taffeta. Dresses were form fitting models with short puffed sleeves and had sweetheart necklines, and long flared skirts. Each dress had a cluster of small flowers at the front of the bodice. The attendants wore matching satin sandals, and velvet tiaras, with nose veils, and carried Colonial bouquets of pink roses.

The flower girl was attired in a blue taffeta dress with a square neck trimmed with blue bows and pink rosebuds. It had an accordion pleated skirt, short puffed sleeves. She wore a wreath of pink roses in her hair. White slippers and socks completed her costume, and she carried a nosegay of pink roses and baby breath.

A reception was held at Dick's Hall, Edgely, covers being placed for 100 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Hammond left on Saturday evening for several days' motor trip through New York State. Mrs. Hammond traveled in a black and white Bemberg sheer jacket dress with black and white accessories, and wore a corsage of red roses.

The bride graduated from Bristol high school, class of '36, and is employed in the office of the Hall Aluminum Company. The groom graduated from the Trenton high school and is now employed in that city by the State.

Mrs. Hammond presented her attendants with pearl necklaces, and her flower girl with a gold locket. The men received buckle and tie clasps.

Many of our foods are seasonal. Others are popular in certain sections yet seldom found in others. Still others are used only occasionally as delicacies. But the lemon is with us from January to December, is enjoyed from Maine to its birthplace in California, and in addition to its use as a beverage and a food, it is called upon to do everything from seasoning to softening millady's hands. The versatile lemon is surely entitled to a place in this food series.

Lead tea calls for lemon juice. So does your favorite fish or your morning melon. Salads and salad dressings look upon the lemon as an indispensable ally. Lemonade is the queen of beverages. Many other thirst-quenchers depend upon the fragrant, juicy lemon for flavor. Vegetables meet no rebuffs when seasoned with this wholesome fruit. Natural flavors are enhanced, hidden flavors developed and subdued or lost flavors retrieved.

And lemon meringue pie? One could rave indefinitely about this and other desserts in which the alkaline-reaction native fruit appears. Here are two lemon recipes for your permanent file. I am sure you will like them:

Lemon Gelatine Chiffon Pie

1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
4 egg yolks, beaten
Cook in double boiler until of custard consistency. Add to this mixture:

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) gelatine, soaked in 1/4 cup cold water Stir until dissolved. Add:
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel Cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in:
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten with 1/2 cup sugar

Fill baked or crumb pie shell, 9-inch size, and chill. Just before serving, spread over pie a topping made by soaking for 1/2 hour:
12 marshmallows in
1 cup whipping cream
Whip until stiff. Pile onto pie. Serve cold. Or top with plain sweetened whipped cream.

Lemon Sherbet

2 cups sugar
2 cups water
2 stiffly beaten egg whites

1 cup lemon juice

Boil together for 5 minutes sugar and 1 cup of water. Beat slowly into egg whites, add lemon juice and second cup of water. Pour into freezing tray and set cold control at fast freezing. Freeze stiff and beat or stir thoroughly. Return to freezing compartment and finish freezing; or freeze in crank-type freezer. Serves 10.

Legislature re-assembles for its regular biennial session, thus necessitating a special session with probable new taxes. . . . Lifting of the arms embargo through revision of the nation's neutrality act would greatly stimulate Pennsylvania industry, notably steel and coal, it is stated, and thus perhaps reduce relief costs to such an extent that the present appropriation may be stretched until the next regular session. . . . This would obviate a special session.

It is pointed out, however, that if the relief fund is depleted the administration will find itself in a politically embarrassing position if a special session is not called before June, when the Republican National Convention meets. . . . From then on until November the Presidential campaign will be underway. . . . This is not regarded in political circles as a good time for a special session.

The outbreak of the European war has renewed interest in a proposed extension of the Pittsburgh to Harrisburg Turnpike, now under construction, to the Philadelphia Navy Yard, as a military measure. . . . A short time ago Walter A. Jones, chairman of the Turnpike Commission and high in Pennsylvania Democratic circles, paid a visit to the White House at which he discussed the subject with the President. . . . The Federal Government is interested in making the products of Pittsburgh's steel mills more accessible to the Navy Yard and Philadelphia's seaport. . . . The Pittsburgh to Harrisburg road, using abandoned railroad tunnels through the Allegheny Mountains, will open for traffic next Summer.

Assemblywoman Crystal Bird Fauset, first Negro woman legislator in the country, at a meeting of Quakers near Wilmington, Del., expressed the view that liberal legislation had little chance of adoption at Harrisburg during the present administration. "The present State Administration," has made a definite effort on the part of the Republican party to undo all liberal legislation which benefited the mass of the people. . . . Pennsylvania is almost at the foot of the list of liberal States."

DUCK HAS TWO WINGS

WHITEHALL, N. Y.—(INS)—F. H. Vanderwerker, Williams street, owns a duck named "Donald" which has two sets of wings, something his famous namesake cannot "quack-quack" about.

Other than this oddity "Donald" is normal. There is the regular set of wings, and normal, and below them, on each side, is an extra wing as large as the normal ones.

If you have a house to rent, advertise it in the Courier.

ON THE SCREENS

BRISTOL THEATRE

A bold, forthright and timely film drama, one that dares to show how an actor substitutes for a dictator, was shown to local audiences for the first time last night at the Bristol Theatre. With Akim Tamiroff, Lloyd Nolan, Mary Boland and Patricia Morison heading the cast, "The Magnificent Fraud" is one of the most powerful, thought-provoking pictures ever to come out of Hollywood.

Written for the screen by Gilbert Gabriel and Walter Ferris, the story starts on a note of excitement. Mary Boland, ex-darling of the dictator of a mythical South American country called San Cristobal, is journeying there by plane, excited at the prospect of meeting him again. She is accompanied by her niece, Patricia Morison, and by her niece's fiancé, Ralph Forbes, who is to negotiate a ten million dollar loan for the country.

for movie-goers when they witness Edward Small's new romantic drama, "The Man in the Iron Mask," which was given a gala premiere last night at the Grand Theatre and won the enthusiastic plaudits of a capacity audience. The new film production stars Louis Hayward and Joan Bennett as a new romantic duo, and features such top-notch supporting players as Warren William, Alan Hale, Joseph Schildkraut, Miles Mander, Walter Kingsford, Marian Martin, Montagu Love and Bert Roach.

Louis Hayward, who made a hit in "The Duke of West Point," returns to the screen in a dual role, appearing as the arrogant and over-bearing King Louis XIV of France and his gay, light-hearted twin brother, Philippe. Joan Bennett, looking more beautiful and arresting than ever in her brunette tresses, plays the part of the piquante and quick tempered Maria Theresa of Spain, betrothed to Louis to cement the two countries and maintain the balance of power in Europe.

LANDRETH NINE
WINS OVER IRISH
STARS; SCORE, 12-6

Howard Black On The Mound for The "Farmers," and Allowed 14 Hits

MAY BE LAST GAME

Manager Landreth Uncertain
About Booking Game
For Next Sunday

In what was probably the last game of the local baseball season, Landreth's defeated the Philadelphia Irish Stars at Landreth Ball Park yesterday in the deciding and a rather free hitting and exciting game 12 to 6.

Howard Black was on the mound for the "Farmers" and while touched for 14 hits, with the exception of the second and eighth innings they could do nothing with him and should not have scored at all in the second except for the only errors, (two) which the Farmers made.

The Irish Stars were off to four runs in the second but Landreth got two in the second and went ahead by scoring three in the fourth, again in the fifth and making sure of victory by putting across four in the seventh. Kohler, who started for the visitors, was the pitcher who beat Landreth in the first game, but he was no puzzle to the Farmers yesterday and was succeeded in the seventh inning by Martini, who had a trial with the Athletics two years ago and who also pitched for the Baltimore nine.

Campbell Breslin and Carey lead the home boys with the stick, each getting three hits while Campbell was a flash, stealing second twice. The longest hit of the game was made by Claude Lodge playing first base in place of Bill Griggs, Claude getting a triple down to the creek. Nice catches were made by Johnnie Miksis and Bill Davis. In the third inning with the bases loaded Jack Broderick on a neat bunt squeezed over the tying run. Vic Rockhill played a sparkling game at short. The first time he has played the infield in three years.

The day was perfect for baseball and a good crowd was on hand. If Manager Landreth can book a first class club another game will be played next Sunday, which will definitely wind up the season.

Nazi's Relentless Campaign

ed by President Moscicki, fled into Rumania; another vast Polish area was circumscribed by the German army's system of encirclements—and it became evident that the Eastern Front is veritably non-existent, and that the Western allies now must fight alone on the Rhenish frontier.

There fierce fighting ushered in the third week of the war, with German counter-attacks reported repulsed time and again, French troops, it was reported, continued their minor advances, pinching off German salients and advancing along an 85-mile frontier from the Rhine border to the Moselle River.

The whole dangerous problem of territorial claims in the Balkans arose when the Russians marched into Poland.

Rumania feared a lightning stroke against Bessarabia, her expansive territory adjoining the Soviet Ukraine, which was taken from the Soviets after the World War, but the cession of which the Soviets have never recognized.

Hungary, too, has claims against Rumania; and dread exists in Bucharest that a Soviet drive on Bessarabia will be the signal for an Hungarian offensive.

Bulgaria wants back the Dobruja area of Southeastern Rumania. Some million Russians and Ukrainians inhabit Bessarabia. Eleven million Ukrainians and white Russians live in the Polish areas which the Red Army now is occupying.

When Poland was recreated after the World War, in a fight which lasted nearly two years after the Treaty of Versailles, over 100,000 square miles of Russian and Ukrainian minorities now occupy about 47,000 square miles, covering an area eastward of the line running from the southern point of Lithuania to the eastern extremity of Slovakia.

President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hull closely studied the Russian move, and it became immediately evident that this startling development would have an important bearing on neutrality discussions when Congress meets in special session on Thursday.

The question arose at once as to whether Russia's invasion of Poland constitutes an act of war—thereby bringing Russia under the automatic provisions of the arms embargo act—or whether the Soviet Union, as Premier Molotov holds, is remaining neutral.

Molotov's contention was that the Polish Government "ceased to exist," as a result of the German conquest.

"In view of this state of affairs," Molotov said, "treaties concluded between the Soviet Union and Poland have ceased to exist."

As soon as the military situation in Poland is mopped up, the next step, according to persistent predictions, will be a "peace offensive" by Germany, with Premier Mussolini of Italy as the main mediator.

Britain and France thus may be confronted with a fait accompli in Poland, and the prospect of fighting a long battle on the German Westwall. Their lightning campaign of only a little over a fortnight now nearing completion in Poland, the Germans already are bringing divisions from Poland for action on the Rhine front.

The allied answer remains, according to the latest advices, that Hitlerism must be wiped out.
